

Is Your Teen Interested in a Career in Health Sciences?

Wondering what the future has in store for your teen? If your son or daughter feels rewarded by helping others, enjoys working with a variety of people, and is interested in a job requiring use of medical terminology, lab work and other technical skills, a career in the Health Sciences may be just the answer. Health Science careers offer a full range of possible career choices ranging from those with intense patient contact to those with little or no patient contact. Talk with your child's guidance counselor or career specialist for more information about extended learning opportunities and how to get involved in your future NOW!

Visit www.mebasc.com for more information.

For more Health Sciences resources, download our Volunteer Opportunities Guide at: <http://mebasc.com/VolOpps>

or our Be A Part of the Healthcare Industry brochure at:
<http://mebasc.com/Healthcare>

